The Mass Meeting To-Kight.

There is reason to believe that the meeting at Washington Hall this evening will be the larget that has gathered in this city for years. We hear of large delegations from the country, and from out an audience which will fill the hall to overflowing.

Excellent music will be in attendance, and every care will be taken to provide crowd. The ladies will have the first claim to the seats. We learn that the committee will have the Hall handsomely decorated and draped with

Mr. Stevenson arrived in the city last evening, and Mr. Bingbam will arrive during the day. The latter will be the guest of Mr. A. W. Campbell.

Speaking will begin from half-past seven to a quarter to eight.

Stand and Deliver!

In his speech at Atlanta, Ga., on the 8th ult., Robert Toombs, the eminent Georgia rebel, said:

In 1860 Toombs was an United States

Senator, and a ring leader of the Democratic party, and ought to know whereof he afhrms. But whether confessed or not, it is as much a fact as the rebellion is a fact, that it was inaugurated by the defeated Democratic party. and because it was defeated at the polls

Whoever is responsible for the rebellion is responsible for its consequences -for the blood that had to be shed, the money that had to be spent, the debt that had to be piled up in the war to put it down. For all this, that eminent Democrat, Robert Toombs, says his par-ty is responsible. And, as if to add insult to injury, the cowardly, sneaking Copperheads of the North charge all their crimes and responsibilities on the party that defended and saved the government from their traitorous assaults.

And now these same traitors, having threatened the Government with overthrow in 1860, if their violent demands were not acceded to, and having been restrained from executing their purpose by the strong hand of its power, renew their insolent threats. What

A cut-throat breaks into the house of an honest citizen, seeking both his money and his life. The villain is overpowered, disarmed and secured; and he says to his captor, "Tyrant, you are to blame for this difficulty, in denying me my right to cut your throat and take your purse. Now, I give you fair notice that the breach between us cannot be healed, and I shall not forgive you till you release me and allow me to murder and rob you." This is exactly what Bob Toombs tells us, and he speaks authoritatively for the national housebreaker whom we have beaten down and disarmed.

An estimable young man asmed Wm. W. Lewis, was drowned last Sunday at the "Mouth of Limestone," Harrison county, shout two miles west of Clarksburg. He, with two or three others, had gone to the river to observe the freshet, and while there a large saw log came floating down, and he mmediately divested himself of his wearing apparel and swam out in the stream for the log; and in surgice, and in surgice, and the stream for the log; and in surgice, and the stream for the log; and in surgice, and the stream for the log; and in surgice, and the stream for the log; and in surgice, and the stream for the log; and in surgice, and the stream for the log; and in surgice, and the stream for the log; and in surgice, and the stream for the log; and in surgice, and the stream for the log; and in surgice, and the stream for the log; and in surgice, and the stream for the log; and in surgice, and the stream for the log; and in surgice, and the stream for the log; and day at the "Mouth of Limestone," Harrison county, about two miles west of Clarksburg. He, with two or three others, had gone to the river to observe the freshet, and while there a large saw log came floating down, and he immediately divested himself of his wearing apparel and swam out in the stream for the purpose of securing it. He reached the log, and in attempting to push it towards the shore be was drawn under the log by the carrent, and never rose. It is supposed that he became confused, or probably strangled, and was thus prevented from escaping, although an expert swimmer. He leaves a wife and child.

And are these "the legitimate re sults" of such "teachings?" What are we coming to?

Is this the complexion to which our West Virginia Democracy must come for the comfort and entertainment of the at last or be read out of the party as not sound?

the aid of our good citizens, go to work and secure the exercise of your rights, so that in November next, you may contribute in restoring peace, order and prosperity in our land of promise.

What does the Wheeling Register think of this? Is it of opinion "the feeble mental ray" of this "set of people" can "penetrate the meaning of the words" "Colored Democratic Ciub?" Can it be that the members of these "Colored Democratic Ciub?" Can it be that the members of these "Colored Democratic Ciubs" are "no more fit for political power than an idiot to pliot a vessel through Hell-gate?" "Is it remarkable that these work-hating, vice-loving people should cling to the men who tempt their passions and ply their weekness with all the influences to which they are susceptible?"—these Louisiana aristocrats who "have deluded them with assurances of social equality;" who have made them be lieve "the white man's parlor was to be live of the control of th misstatement which partisan ardor does not excuse.

Again, Mr. Seymour writes:

"The Congressional party had not only lited liself with military power, which is to be brought to hear directly upon the elections in many States, but it also holds liself n perpetual session, with the avowed pursone of making such laws as it shall see fit, n view of the clections which will take place within a few weeks."

The answer to the allegation that the Congressional party intends to bring military power "to bear directly upon the elections" is, that under General Grant's orders, the District Commanders relinquished all the extraordinary authority conferred by the Reconstruction acts, so soon as the newly-formed Governments came into operation. The fact, then, is the opposition to Mr. Seymour's statement; and for this fact the Republican party is entitled to credit.

The nomination of Grant at Chicago, The nomination of Grant at Chicago, on a platform at once conciliatory and just, laid the foundation for the reunion of all shades of Republican opinion. The New York, nominations, on a platform of repudiation and and revolution, removed all lingering doubts as to the course of duty, and rendered the Republican strength more compact than ever. Mr. Seymour, therefore, may dismiss the hope of help from those whom he styles "the best men of the Republican party." They will not furnish him a corporal's guard.

Pure blood may be compared to pure water, and impure blood to muddy water. If you pass muddy water through muslin you soil it; conlinue the process and you cover with thick mud. Blood passes through all parts of the body; if good and pure it nourishes and cleanses the parts it goes through. If impure it leaves more or less dirt behind it.
